9. Commission Comments/Questions

   Commissioner Richards:
   I'll ration my comments over the next 6 or 8 weeks. I've been out for a week and I've been reading quite a bit, but I have three things today. The first one it's really interesting there was a study by Harvard economist named Raj Chetty, and he talks about the impact of jobs and social mobility, economic mobility, where those jobs are added in the report that he did, which I think are really interesting read. And I'll quote is “Job growth is not sufficient by itself to create upward mobility. It's almost as if racial disparities have been amplified by the job growth.” So, as we look at like the Central SoMa plan and other, you know, areas where we're developing, just adding jobs isn't the panacea that lists all boats. In fact, it actually sinks a few more boats I think than we realize, at least according to this study.

   Secondly, I really found this an interesting article by Joel Engardio. I've never met the man but about talking about hey kind of like a block in the Sunset and the Richmond where people can band together and they can decide to have their single family homes demolished and build, I think three units in each parcel and they get a unit themselves for later in life and they kind of be taken care of. It's really, really, really interesting article and it compares that type of activity to Barcelona and Paris where you have these five story buildings, a really interesting article. At the end of the article, I thought, oh how can we create 10,000 new homes? We can just build the homes we have already entitled as well. So, let's just kind of put that in our hat.

   And lastly, we hear from Discretionary Review a lot and we hear from people saying light isn't a big deal and shade isn't a big deal. In the New York Times this weekend, there's a whole article about darkness and shade and how people are not buying apartments that are dark and shady. There's now a map or an app that somebody invented that actually says if I live in this building, this is how much light I get during the day, almost like a shadow study. And it's a really, really interesting app. I took a look at it and I don't know how they did it, but it really goes to the fact that light – sunlight and air is a big deal and buyers are actually, are recognizing that as well. So it's an interesting read. There will be more next week.

11. Review of Past Events at the Board of Supervisors, Board of Appeals and Historic Preservation Commission

Aaron Starr: Land Use Committee

First on the Land Use agenda was Supervisor Ronen’s ordinance that would amend the Mission Alcoholic Beverage SUD and Mission Street NCT District controls. Commissioners you heard this Ordinance on October 18, 2018 and voted unanimously to recommend approval with modifications.

The modifications you recommended were:

1. to allow non-retail professional services at the third floor and above within the Mission St NCT as long as those uses can demonstrate active non-profit status; and
2. to provide an exemption from the prohibition on commercial storefront mergers that result in a merger 1,500 sq. ft. or larger if the project was submitted to Planning Dept. on or before July 31, 2018.

The Supervisor only include the Commission’s second proposed amendment in the final ordinance.

At the Land Use hearing the Committee heard public testimony that was in support of the proposed Ordinance. The multiple speakers all mentioned that the Ordinance was a result of a City-Community partnership to address the gentrification concerns in the Mission neighborhood. After public testimony, the Committee moved unanimously to accept the second modification and move the Ordinance to the Full BOS.

Next on the agenda was Supervisor Kim’s proposed modifications to the Better Streets ordinance. You heard this item last week on October 18 and voted unanimously to approve the ordinance with modifications. Those amendments included:

- Modify the change Use Size Trigger from 10,000 sq. ft. to 25,000 sq. ft.;
- Expand Definition of Protected Streets on the Bike Network;
- Eliminate Minimum Parking Requirements Citywide;
- As well as two other clerical amendments.

Public Comment at the Land Use Committee was overwhelmingly positive. Four comments representing advocacy organizations (Livable City, Walk SF, The Bike Coalition, YIMBY Action and the SF Housing Coalition) spoke favorably of the legislation and in support of the Commission’s recommendation to eliminate minimum parking requirements Citywide. One member of the public spoke out against the legislation.

The bulk of the comments from the Committee Members focused on eliminating minimum parking requirements, and how doing so would support the Vision Zero and Transit First Policies, and potentially reduce the cost of housing.

During the hearing, Supervisor Kim split the file so that the amendments to eliminate minimum parking requirements could be drafted. The duplicated ordinance will come back to the land use committee in about two weeks.

In the file that is moving forward to the Board, she included the Planning Commission’s proposed amendments, except for increasing the change of use trigger from 10,000 to 25,000.

Next on the agenda was Supervisor Brown’s ordinance that would establish specific inclusionary housing requirements in the Divisadero Street NCT district. Commissioners you heard this item on June 30, 2016 and voted to approve with modifications.

At the hearing, Supervisor Brown introduced amendments to the ordinance that included the following:

- For current pipeline projects, the on-site requirement would be 20% for rental projects or 23% for ownership projects, and the affordability levels would be consistent with the citywide inclusionary program.
- Future projects would be subject to the on-site requirement for HOME-SF Tier One projects, which is currently 23% for projects that have received no increase in height. The fee and off-site requirement for all projects in the district would be the same as the citywide inclusionary program; and
- The Fillmore NCT district would remain subject to the citywide inclusionary housing requirements.

The Land Use Committee voted unanimously to accept the amendments, and to continue the ordinance to the November 5 Land Use Committee meeting to allow time for the fee change to be properly noticed.

- 180911 Planning Code - Inclusionary Housing Ordinance. Sponsor: Mayor. Staff: Grob.

Next, the Committee heard the Mayor’s Ordinance that would modify the date by which projects that are eligible for lower on-site and off-site Inclusionary housing rates must obtain a site permit. Commissioners, you heard this on October 11, 2018 and voted to recommend approval.

At the Land Use hearing, there were approximately 20 speakers; About 2/3 of the speakers were in opposition and considered the proposed extension a “giveaway” to developers. They felt that the ordinance went against the will of the voters, and many referenced Mission projects specifically.

Speakers in support of the ordinance commented on the impact of uncertainty of the development process and rising construction costs.

During the hearing, Supervisors Peskin and Kim proposed a few ideas on how to modify the ordinance including:

- Reduce the extension time to 12 months;
- Require projects to prove that their developments will no longer pencil;
- Provide a process by which the ZA can authorize an extension;
- Applying the existing fee on density bonus units to the affected projects (which are currently not subject to the fee); and
- Exclude the non-entitled projects from any extension provided

In the end the Commission did not amend the ordinance but voted to continue to the item until next week.

- 180910 Planning Code - Affordable Housing Projects on Undeveloped Lots in Service/Arts/Light Industrial Districts. Sponsor: Kim. Staff: Butkus. Item 5
- 180490 General Plan Amendments - Central South of Market Area Plan. Sponsor: Planning Commission. Staff: Chen. Item 8
- 180185 Planning Code, Zoning Map - Central South of Market Special Use District. Sponsors: Mayor; Kim. Staff: Chen. Item 9
- 180453 Business and Tax Regulations, Planning Codes - Central South of Market Housing Sustainability District. Sponsors: Mayor; Kim. Staff: Chen. Item 10
- 180184 Administrative, Planning Codes - Central South of Market Area Plan. Sponsors: Mayor; Kim. Staff: Chen.

Last on the land use agenda was the package of ordinances for the Central SoMa Plan. These items were continued from October 15 so that more amendments could be made. This week, there were 5 public comments, calling for affordable housing and neighborhood stabilization policies, and for a supplemental EIR to further evaluate the impacts of TNCs.

During the hearing, Supervisor Kim signaled at the start of the hearing that she intended to introduce additional amendments and continue the hearing to October 29th. Supervisors Safai and Tang both stated that they would like to restore the funding for the Old Mint to $20 million, the figure recommended by the Planning Commission, with the additional $5 million coming from regional transportation capacity enhancement.

Some of Supervisor Kim’s proposed amendments include:

1. Language encouraging POPOS to include green walls and family-friendly design considerations and encouraging projects subject to the living-roofs requirement to include green walls.

2. A requirement that Key Sites building office or hotel uses satisfy its child care fee obligation by building child care facilities on-site, unless they can demonstrate that it is infeasible.

3. A required CU for cannabis retail and medical cannabis dispensary uses; and

4. Finally lowering the threshold of projects subject to the CFD from 40,000 GSF to 25,000 GSF, which corresponds with the trigger for the small-cap office allocation under Prop M.

Because this last amendment would expand the scope of projects subject to the CFD, it requires referral back to the Planning Commission for review. However, Staff would recommend that you waive your opportunity to hear this again, given the limited number of projects that would be impacted by this change. You of course have full discretion to request a hearing; however, if I don't hear from you today that you would like to hear this amendment, we will let the Clerk know that you have opted not to rehear this item.

In the end the Committee voted to amendment the ordinance as proposed by Supervisor Kim and continue the item to the October 29th LU hearing.

Jonas P. Ionin, Commission Secretary:
The Board of Appeals met last night and considered one item that may be of interest to the Planning Commission. On behalf of the Zoning Administrator, 891 Carolina Street. The Commission heard this item last year as a discretionary review and voted unanimously to approve the permit with modifications. Last night the Board heard five appeals on this permit with concerns about the design of the project and the use of the adjacent property at 897 Carolina Street to determine the rear yard requirement for the project. The Board voted unanimously to deny the appeals and uphold the permit as approved by the Commission.

Commissioner Richards:
Yes, I don’t know how to handle this, but I have no desire to rehear the Central SoMa changes sent to the Commission.
