8. Commission Comments/Questions

Commissioner Moore:
Secretary Ionin, I would like to bring to your attention that the line -- your own voice is fading in and out. There is a certain instability in the line, and it will mix certain critical information. Also, when you are repeating the phone number, at least on my end there is a very weak connection. I am now wondering if other people share the same impression. Thank you.

Jonas P. Ionin, Commission Secretary:
I will try to move closer to my router. Thank you.

Commissioner Diamond:
There were two items in the news this week that I think would be really beneficial if we could have a Planning Department briefing to the Commission on. One was a report in the newspaper about the RHNA numbers – the new RHNA numbers that are being adopted. And the interplay between SB 35 and the new, much higher RHNA numbers. I spent some time earlier this morning on the phone with Kate Conner and James Pappas in the Planning Department to try to understand these issues in more detail. And they gave me an exceptionally helpful briefing and my request to the Director, in abstentia, is that it would be really beneficial I think to the Commission and also to the public to understand future implications of these much higher RHNA numbers, especially in light of SB 35 as applied to San Francisco.

My second request has to do with -- and maybe this will come up later in the legislation presentation, but that the Hub project was adopted by the Board in a considerably different format than was approved by the Commission. And it would be helpful I think to understand for the Commission the implications of the Board's approval and the Racial and Social Equity analysis that is going to be done, and how that interplays with Phase 2 of the Planning Department Racial and Social Equity initiative. And also, the impact on all of the community benefits, in particular, the transportation improvements that were part of the larger Hub plan and what that timing might be. And also, what the status is of, not the three projects were approved but all the others, and status of any pending applications on those projects. So again, a request to Director Hillis to provide a much fuller briefing I think to the Commission about what that means going forward. Thank you.

D. DEPARTMENT MATTERS

9. Director's Announcements

AnMarie Rodgers:
This is AnMarie Rodgers standing in for Director Hillis today. And I was going to share with you a little bit about our intern program that we have. This is important program that we have done for a few years managed by our senior planner, Tina Tam. And this year we have 15 interns that are full time and paid. Because of COVID effects, they are working remotely. And we have shortened the internship just down to nine weeks this is year. We pair them with a planner, and they are tasked to work on a specific project and develop that and give presentations at the end of their program which is going to end the week of August 17th. We would like to express our -- how happy we are to have them here and appreciative of the work they're going to be performing, and we also like to invite these commissioners to participate in hearing the intern's -- [Inaudible]

Jonas P. Ionin, Commission Secretary:
It is hard to tell, but I am not sure if it is my computer or AnMarie seems as though -- AnMarie on my end, anyway, froze.

Commissioner:
I also see that. She’s --

Commissioner Diamond:
Yes, frozen for me, too.

Jonas P. Ionin, Commission Secretary:
So unfortunately, AnMarie, you were cutting in and out on me. I thought it was my computer, so I moved closer to my router and it didn't help the issue. For your record, Commissioner Moore, I was informed that on other people's computers I was clear and audible without interruption. AnMarie, I am not sure if you can come back and try to reiterate any of those comments.

Commissioner Moore:
I wanted to welcome our intern students. Over the past year, Commissioners made themselves available and also participated at the final presentations when these students were kind of speaking to their work in the Department. I regret that you are all here without the true ability to interact with everybody in an exciting department and learn also from seeing our city directly. I hope you are all healthy and we hope we can meet you online at some point. Thank you.

10. Review of Past Events at the Board of Supervisors, Board of Appeals and Historic Preservation Commission
Aaron Starr:
Good afternoon Commissioners. Aaron Starr, manager of Legislative Affairs. This week there were quite a few items on the Land Use agenda. The first item was the Committee considered Supervisor Ronen’s ordinance that would allow arts activities and social service or philanthropic facilities as temporary uses. Commissioners, you heard this item on June 25th and voted to approve it with modifications. Those modifications included, one, to define COVID-19 relief and recovery uses that are eligible for the proposed temporary use authorization; create a fee waiver for COVID-19 relief and recovery uses seeking a temporary use authorization; extend the initial approval period for the temporary use authorization to two years; and extend the renewal at the discretion of Planning Director for an additional two years. The Land Use Committee voiced their support for all the Commission’s recommended modifications. However, since some of the proposed amendments are substantive, the Committee voted to continue the item one week to July 27th so that those the amendments could be added to the ordinance. The Committee then considered Supervisor Ronen’s ordinance that would allow the parking lot behind the El Capitan Theatre to remain for another five years without obtaining conditional use authorization. Commissioners, you heard this last week and unanimously recommended approval. No one spoke up during public comment and once public comment was closed, the item was recommended to the Full Board.

Next, the Committee considered Supervisor Ronen’s ordinance that proposed to prohibit office uses in UMU Zoning Districts and require conditional use authorization for various office like service uses. This Commission heard this item on April 23rd and voted to approve the ordinance with modifications. Those modifications included one to limit the condition on office uses within the UMU to the Mission Area Plan; maintain existing controls on professional service, financial service and medical service; and three, include a grandfathering clause in the ordinance. At the Land Use hearing the community expressed overall support of the ordinance. Questions centered on the appeal hearing date for one project potentially affected by the office use prohibition. Supervisor Ronen clarified that the appeal hearing date is scheduled to occur before the likely effective date of the ordinance. Public comment was overwhelmingly in support of the ordinance citing that it would help preserve spaces for art, social service and employment serving local residents. Four members of the public did comment on the need to include grandfathering clause. After public comment, the Committee voted unanimously to amend the ordinance to limit the prohibition on office uses in the Mission Area Plan. The other Planning Commission recommendations notably the grandfathering clause were not added to the ordinance. The Committee then voted unanimously to recommend the ordinance as amended to the Full Board.

Next, the Committee considered the initiation of the landmark status for the Zakheim murals located at the UCSF Parnassus campus. This is the first step for landmark designation initiated by a board member. During the hearing there were presentations by SF Heritage on background of the murals and artists and by UCSF on the status of the murals’ preservation. There was some public comment mainly over stewardship of the city’s collection of new deal art which is one of the largest in the country. Supervisor Peskin acknowledged that this landmark status would be honorific due to the status of it being a UC Project. And nonetheless, the Committee sent the item to the Full Board with a positive recommendation. Should the Board do decide to initiate landmark designation, the Historic Preservation Commission will have 90 days to act on it once it has been transmitted to the Department. This item however will not be heard by this Commission. And then finally, the Committee took up the various legislative amendments associated with the Market and Octavia Plan, also known as the Hub. You may recall that this item was continued from last week’s meeting. Commissioners, you heard this item on May 21st and recommended approval and directed the Department and the Board to pursue a Nexus study to establish the community facility’s fee. In response to this direction, the mayor introduced substitute legislation on June 9th with new community facilities fee amendment. During public comment at the Land Use hearing, there were generally two sentiments from the commenters. Those that were in support of the plan as proposed by the commission and those in support of a pause on the rest of the legislation until further equity work is complete. After public comment, Supervisor Preston proposed to duplicate the file. Even proposed the amendments to the zoning map ordinance which would limit height increase to three sites – 30 Van Ness, 98 Franklin, and 10 South Van Ness, and retain the existing NCT-3 Zoning. His other amendments included impact fee calculation clarifications and changing the period from annual to quarterly for the community facility’s fee. After those amendments were made, the Board forwarded all the items except the Hub Housing Sustainability District to the Full Board on July 21st.

At the Full Board this week, Supervisor Peskin’s ordinance that would allow the Central Station to expand in the North Beach Special Use District passed its second read. And the Board also compared the CEQA appeal for 743 Vermont Street. This project includes a rear addition, a new deck and other interior modifications. In addition, the project would include the legalization of an existing bathroom and three storage rooms on the ground floor level to comply with a notice of violation. Commissioners, you heard this item on January 2, 2020 as a discretionary review and voted to not take DR and approve the project as proposed. The appellant’s contention was that the CEQA determination is invalid because the revised project description omitted that the unauthorized dwelling was being legalized. Staff’s response to this was that the work to construct the three storage rooms and the full bath on the ground floor is being legalized based a notice of violation. However, the space is not being used as an unauthorized dwelling unit and the owner has no intention of adding an ADU to their ground floor space. Thus, the CEQA project description was valid and the CEQA determination should stand. During the hearing, Rachel Schuett, Environmental Planning staff, presented the Department’s position and was assisted by Carly Grob who handled the questions about the Department’s accessory dwelling unit program. In the end, the Board voted unanimously to uphold the exemption and denied the appeal.

And then finally, the stripped-down version of the amendments of the Hub passed its first read at the Full Board. And based on Commissioner Diamond’s comments, I don’t have all that information for you. Perhaps a separate presentation on the impacts of the Board’s action can be done by the planners that are assigned to it. And I am available for questions. Thank you.

Jonas P. Ionin, Commission Secretary:
I did want to announce for the benefit of the public and the Commission to make you aware that the Planning Department is moving. By the end of August or even mid-August we will have moved from 1650 Mission Street to our new offices at 49 South Van Ness. When we will be allowed to actually occupy those offices is yet to be determined.
