2. Commission Comments/Questions

   Commissioner Chan:
   So, a few months ago I shared an update about the inaugural SF Young Planners Internship program. As a reminder, this is a partnership between Planning Department and the Mayor’s Opportunities For All initiative really to provide the hands-on training program for high school students to explore and dive into the Planning profession. I’m excited to let you know that the program actually starts next week, June 7th and goes until August 6 or so. We have 15 interns who have been placed in this cohort and also two teaching fellows who will be designing and leading the program. I wanted to give shout out especially to Tina Tam of the Planning Department for all of her support and work making this program possible. I had a chance to meet some of the interns during a pre-program orientation. It looks to be a really great cohort. Many of them are really excited to learn more about the city that they call home and how they can get involved in shaping the future. The program is going to be a hybrid model of both online and outdoor in-person field work. And it is going to cover a range of topics – the history of Planning to housing, Zoning, Transportation, Environmental Justice and Sustainability, Historical Preservation and so forth. I really appreciate some of the Commissioners who mentioned last time that they wanted to be involved. And so, Planning staff will be reaching out with some opportunities to connect with the interns throughout the program. And please be on the lookout for an invitation for the final celebration and graduation at the end.

   Lastly, I wanted to share some personal news that I will be taking a leave of absence to focus on family. Today will be my last meeting on the Commission. And until then, I look forward to returning in a few months and hopefully seeing you all in person at City Hall. Thank you.
Commissioner Tanner:
I just want to thank you, Commissioner Chan for your work and to anyone in the Department who has helped to get the young folks ready. I am just so excited about this and I hope they have as much fun and just learn so much. Thank you so much for your leadership. I just can’t wait to hopefully meet some of the students whether it is in person or online or combination. And, look forward to you returning. So, I hope that the few months of leave are good for you and your family.

And then last, to everyone, happy Pride Month. We are opening up in time for a fun and festive month. So, hopefully everyone can get out there and enjoy Pride month.

C. DEPARTMENT MATTERS

3. Director’s Announcements

Rich Hillis, Planning Director:
Thank you, Commissioners. And I was going to mention the same thing about the internship program. Thank you, Commissioner Chan for bringing it up and thank you for all you have done to make it possible. And Tina Tam too, I want to thank for all her work because it was a big lift from the time we started to discussing it, to getting it to this point, and having actual interns. So, thanks again. Our college interns also start next week. So, there are 25 college interns as well as 15 high school interns. Some of them will be on kind of a similar hybrid model as well. And we will definitely reach out to you all when there are opportunities to engage with them as well as for their final presentations. Thank you all again.

Commissioner Moore:
I wanted to suggest to the director to let us know early where these students are coming from. And again, I definitely will offer my availability to help mentor, tutor or explain. I have been on for a while. Besides being in the profession there are things to share. Please make yourself avail to my being ready, including letting us all know early on which particular schools you have chosen. I am always curious on that. Thank you.

Rich Hillis, Planning Director:
Okay. Thank you.
