Recommendation: Informational

Background
Department staff provided an update on the Citywide Cultural Resources Survey February 20, 2019.

Current Proposal
Department staff is providing an update on the ongoing efforts for the Citywide Cultural Resources Survey since February 2019. In this intervening time, there have been management changes at the Department, the Covid-19 pandemic shifted parameters for how staff works and engages with the public, and the Planning Commission and Historic Preservation Commission (HPC) both issued Resolutions centering the Department’s work on racial and social equity.

At this informational hearing, Department staff will update the Commission on the overall status of the project and outline next steps. In addition, staff plans to present and discuss a draft framework for the Citywide Historic Context Statement; this is attached for reference. Further, staff will provide an overview of the process currently underway for development of an Intangible Heritage methodology, to be considered for Survey purposes and other cultural heritage programs at the Department and within the City. Lastly, staff will discuss in more detail the intended seats for the Survey Advisory Group (SAG), and discuss the anticipated roles of the Core SAG and the Rotating SAG.

Required Commission Action
None – Informational

Attachments: Draft Framework for Citywide Historic Context Statement
The following pages include a framework for a citywide historic context statement. It is organized based on citywide categories that express a comprehensive story of the City for purposes of preservation planning: Thematic Context, Cultural Contexts and Architectural Contexts. Those in progress or adopted are noted in bold. To date, numerous neighborhood, sub-neighborhood, and area plan contexts have been developed and many adopted. These will be taken into account and incorporated when drafting findings, which will be organized by Planning-defined neighborhoods. Further, as noted in the framework, some portions of these neighborhood-based contexts help further develop a larger citywide theme.

The remaining components of this citywide context will be prepared and reviewed by professionals who meet the Secretary of the Interior’s Professional Qualification Standards. Guidance on developing context statements stems from the California Office of Historic Preservation (OHP) and by the National Register Bulletin 24: Guidelines for Local Surveys: A Basis for Preservation Planning, the Secretary of the Interior’s Standards and Guidelines for Archaeology and Historic Preservation, and in National Register Bulletin 16: How to Complete the National Register Multiple Property Documentation Form. Further, the OHP quotes on its website:

> Historic contexts and surveys are critical tools for understanding, identifying, evaluating, and protecting those resources which give each community its individual character and sense of place. Historic contexts provide the foundation for preservation planning. Contexts typically are based on one or more themes, a geographical area, and periods of significance. They describe the broad patterns of historical development of a community or region that are represented by the physical development and character of the built environment. They also identify important associated property types, and establish eligibility criteria and integrity thresholds.
