BUSINESS DESCRIPTION

Located at 5267 3rd Street, the Jazz Room has been a neighborhood fixture since 1962. The Jazz Room opened during a time of simmering unrest in the Bayview Hunters Point community. African-Americans that made the neighborhood their home after World War II were coming to terms with the legacy of marginalization, disinvestment and segregation of a community many in power considered on the outskirts of San Francisco. This unrest channeled the sense of community. Community-based organizations committed to neighborhood improvement were born. In this environment, The Jazz Room opened as a venue that would offer live music and drinks designed to cater to the social and entertainment needs of the evolving community. Although The Jazz Room has always served alcohol (classified as a "tavern" in early directory listings), it was envisioned to be more than just another neighborhood "bar," hence the name.

Although it could not be confirmed, it is possible that The Jazz Room originated at a different location along 3rd Street prior to 1962. An article in the San Francisco Chronicle in 1960 discussing the growth of musical venues devoted to jazz in the city mentioned "The Jazz Room" as a venue "out on Third Street." No address was given, and no other evidence could be found along 3rd Street in telephone directories from 1959 to 1961. The first directory listing for The Jazz Room is at 5267 3rd Street was in 1962.

According to a brief mention in the San Francisco Chronicle, The Jazz Room had a "grand reopening" on Dec 29, 1962, with new managers R.L. (Bob) Peagler and Phelep Frieson at the helm. According to current owner, Bernadette Smith, the property and venue were purchased from Mr. Peagler by her sister and brother-in-law, Geraldine and John Bates, in 1964. Ms. Bates passed away in 1994 (preceded in death by her husband). The property and venue were left to Ms. Bates's siblings: Carl Dwyer, Bernardine Thompson, and Bernedette Smith. Mr. Dwyer and Ms. Thompson willingly transferred their interests in the property to Bernedette Smith. Quen Smith, the daughter of Ms. Bernedette is currently taking an active role in the management of The Jazz Room after her recent retirement. The Jazz Room has been in continuous operation since 1962, and has been owned and operated by the same family since 1964.

The business is located on the east side of 3rd Street between Underwood Avenue and Van Dyke Avenue in the Bayview neighborhood. It is within the NC-3 (Neighborhood Commercial District, Moderate Scale) Zoning District and in a 40-X Height and Bulk District.

Re: Legacy Business Nomination for the Jazz Room

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to express my support for Ms. Bernedette Smith's application to recognize the Jazz Room as a Legacy Business.

The name itself – Jazz Room – reinforces the historical bonds between the African American community and the art form of jazz. The Jazz Room opened in 1962 as a venue that offered live music and drinks to cater to the social and entertainment needs of an evolving community.

In 1964, the Jazz Room was purchased by Geraldine Bates, an African-American resident of the Bayview- Hunters Point community. After 30 years of operations, Ms. Bates conveyed ownership to her sister, Ms. Bernadette Smith, continuing the chain of African-American ownership for nearly 55 years. The Jazz Room has grounded its cultural and historical significance in the Bayview-Hunters Point community. Ms. Smith's family-owned business is a critical asset to the city of San Francisco.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

THE JAZZ ROOM

Section 4: Written Historical Narrative

a. Provide a short history of the business from the date the business opened in San Francisco to the present day, including the ownership history. For businesses with multiple locations, include the history of the original location in San Francisco (including whether it was the business's founding and or headquartered location) and the opening dates and locations of all other locations.

Located at 5267 3rd Street, the Jazz Room has been a neighborhood fixture since 1962.

Although it could not be confirmed, it is possible that The Jazz Room originated at a different location along 3rd Street prior to 1962. An article in the San Francisco Chronicle in 1960 discussing the growth of musical venues devoted to jazz in the city mentioned "The Jazz Room" as a venue "out on Third Street." No address was given, and no other evidence could be found along 3rd Street in telephone directories from 1959 to 1961. The first directory listing for The Jazz Room is at 5267 3rd Street was in 1962. The same space was Marcelina's Beauty Nook from 1953-1958 and vacant from 1959-1961.

According to a brief mention in the San Francisco Chronicle, The Jazz Room had a "grand reopening" on Dec 29, 1962, with new managers R.L. (Bob) Peagler and Phelep Frieson at the helm. According to current owner, Bernedette Smith, the property and venue were purchased from Mr. Peagler by her sister and brother-in-law, Geraldine and John Bates, in 1964. Ms. Bates passed away in 1994 (preceded in death by her husband). The property and venue were left to Ms. Bates's siblings: Carl Dwyer, Bernardine Thompson, and Bernedette Smith. Mr. Dwyer and Ms. Thompson willingly transferred their interests in the property to Bernedette Smith. Quen Smith, the daughter of Ms. Bernedette is currently taking an active role in the management of The Jazz Room after her recent retirement.

The Jazz Room has been in continuous operation since 1962, and has been owned and operated by the same family since 1964. According to Ms. Smith, she have every intention of keeping The Jazz Room a family owned and operated establishment for the foreseeable future.

b. Describe any circumstances that required the business to cease operations in San Francisco for more than six months?

The Jazz Room has been in continuous operation in San Francisco since it was established in its present location in 1962.

c. Is the business a family-owned business? If so, give the generational history of the business.

Following is the ownership history of The Jazz Room since 1962:

1962 - 1964:	R.L. (Bob) Peagler and Phelep Frieson
1964 - 1967:	Geraldine Bates and John Bates
1967 - 1994:	Bernedette Smith, Carl Dwyer and Bernardine Thompson (Geraldine Bates passed away and the property/venue was willed to her siblings)
1994 - Present:	Bernedette Smith (Carl Dwyer and Bernardine Thompson transferred ownership to their sister, Bernedette Smith)

The Jazz Room has been family owned since 1964.

d. Describe the ownership history when the business ownership is not the original owner or a family-owned business.

Not much is known about the 1962 owners of The Jazz Room. Robert L (Bob) Peagler lived with his family in the Bayview prior to opening the venue. He was a City employee in 1960. Research suggest that he was one of the thousands of southern migrates that settled in San Francisco after World War II. A little more is known about his wife, Fannie Jo. She was an educator for many years, working in schools in and around BVHP. During the 1990s, she was the Principal at Visitacion Valley Elementary School. She retired from the San Francisco Unified School District after decades of service.

Unfortunately, no information was found about Robert L. Peagler's business partner Mr. Frieson.

When the Jazz Room changed ownership 1964, it was purchased by another African-American resident of the community, Geraldine Bates. Ms. Bates operated the business for 30 years. Ownership was conveyed to her sister, Ms. Bernedette, continuing the chain of African-American ownership for nearly 55 years, over 50 as a woman-owned business.

e. When the current ownership is not the original owner and has owned the business for less than 30 years, the applicant will need to provide documentation of the existence of the business prior to current ownership to verify it has been in operation for 30+ years. Please use the list of supplemental documents and/or materials as a guide to help demonstrate the existence of the business prior to current ownership.

Documentation of the existence of the business prior to the current ownership is provided in this application.

f. Note any other special features of the business location, such as, if the property associated with the business is listed on a local, state, or federal historic resources registry.

The property is listed by the Planning Department as “Category B” (Properties Requiring Further Consultation and Review) with regard to the California Environmental Quality Act.

CRITERION 2

a. Describe the business's contribution to the history and/or identity of the neighborhood, community or San Francisco.

Jazz is an art form closely associated with the African American experience. So not surprisingly, the story of jazz in San Francisco is forever linked to the rise and fall of the Fillmore. The clubs and bars that hosted live music are as legendary as the jazz greats that performed there.

The Harlem of the West story is well known. Yet, the story of live music venues in the city's other predominantly African-American neighborhood, Bayview-Hunters Point (BVHP), has yet to be told. When that story is finally researched and told, no doubt the existence of The Jazz Room will be singled out for its original concept and its amazing longevity.

The Jazz Room opened in December 1962 – a time of simmering unrest in the BVHP community. African-Americans that made the neighborhood their home after World War II were coming to terms with the legacy of marginalization, disinvestment and segregation of a community many in power considered on the outskirts of San Francisco. This unrest channeled the sense of community. Community-based organizations committed to neighborhood improvement were born. African-American leaders began to emerge to challenge the destructive policies from “downtown.” Bayview-Hunters Point was becoming a neighborhood that would no longer be ignored.

In this environment, The Jazz Room opened as a venue that would offer live music and drinks designed to cater to the social and entertainment needs of the evolving community. Although The Jazz Room has always served alcohol (classified as a “tavern” in early directory listings), it was envisioned to be more than just another neighborhood “bar,” hence the name. As stated, African-Americans and jazz are bonded by history. A venue on 3rd Street calling itself “The Jazz Room” conveyed the message that “We Are Here, Join us!” And, yes, The Jazz Room was opened by an African-American resident from the neighborhood.

b. Is the business (or has been) associated with significant events in the neighborhood, the city, or the business industry?

The Jazz Room hosted victory parties after the election/re-election of President Obama. In recent years, The Jazz Room has participated in the Butchertown Street Festival that is held adjacent to the venue.

c. Has the business ever been referenced in an historical context? Such as in a business trade publication, media, or historical documents?

Bayview-Hunters Point has gone through a lot of changes since The Jazz Room opened. The neighborhood is no longer majority African-American. The remnants of the past struggles are becoming lost as the community transition continues. The Jazz Room is one of those precious remnants that must be preserved. It was and is an important part of the legacy of the African-American experience in San Francisco and Bayview-Hunters Point.

d. Is the business associated with a significant or historical person?

Two notable Jazz performers played at The Jazz Room: John Handy III and Mary Stallings performed in 1962.

John Richard Handy III (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/John_Handy, born February 3, 1933, in Dallas, Texas) was an American jazz musician most commonly associated with the alto saxophone, although he also sang and played tenor and baritone saxophone, saxello, clarinet and oboe. Handy first came to prominence while working for Charles Mingus in the 1950s. In the 1960s, Handy led several groups, among them a quintet with Michael White, violin; Jerry Hahn, guitar; Don Thompson, bass; and Terry Clarke, drums. This group's performance at the 1965 Monterey Jazz Festival was recorded and released as an album. Handy received Grammy nominations for "Spanish Lady" (jazz performance) and "If Only We Knew" (jazz composition). Handy has also taught music history and performance at San Francisco State University, Stanford University, the University of California, Berkeley, the San Francisco Conservatory of Music and other schools.

Mary Stallings (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mary_Stallings, born August 16, 1939) was an American jazz vocalist and mother of soul singer Adriana Evans. Mary Stallings was born in San Francisco, California, one of 11 children. She grew up in the neighborhood of Laurel Heights, singing in the Black gospel choir of the First African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church. By her teens, Stallings began singing in San Francisco-area night clubs such as the Hungry i, The Purple Onion and El Matador. She performed with such artists as Ben Webster, Cal Tjader, Earl Hines, Red Mitchell, Teddy Edwards and the Montgomery brothers (Wes, Monk, and Buddy). Before graduating from high school, she joined R&B pioneer Louis Jordan's Tympani Five. In the early 1960s, she performed with Dizzy Gillespie at San Francisco's Black Hawk nightclub and eventually with Gillespie at the 1965 Monterey Jazz Festival. She is perhaps best known for her 1961 collaboration with vibraphonist Cal Tjader on the album Cal Tjader Plays, Mary Stallings Sings on Fantasy Records. She has shared the bill with singers such as Joe Williams, Tony Bennett and Ella Fitzgerald. From 1969-1972, she had a three-year residency as the Count Basie Orchestra "girl singer." In 1972, in semi-retirement, she gave birth to her only child, R&B singer Adriana Evans. Mary Stallings has played at the Monterey Jazz Festival in 1965, 1995, 2003 and 2013.

e. How does the business demonstrate its commitment to the community?

Although the Jazz Room does not have regularly scheduled jazz performances, the owners do acknowledge the establishment's roots as a music venue for the community. The Jazz Room hosts semi-regular DJ music by local residents as well as the occasional band performance. When President Obama was elected /reelected, The Jazz Room hosted "Obama Parties." However, the most notable commitment to the community is the owner's support for regular barbecue preparations on her property that are served to those in need, free of charge. Ms. Bernedette also participates in the newly founded "Butchertown Street Festival" hosted on Lane Street behind The Jazz Room.

f. Provide a description of the community the business serves.

The Jazz Room serves the Bayview-Hunters Point community, a community that was once predominantly African-American.

According to the 2010 U.S. Census, Bayview-Hunters Point had the highest percentage of African-Americans among San Francisco neighborhoods, home to 21.5% of the city's Black population, and they were the predominant ethnic group in the Bayview. Census figures showed the percentage of African-Americans in Bayview declined from 48% in 2000 to 33.7% in 2010, while the percentage of Asian and White ethnicity increased from 24% and 10%, respectively, to 30.7% and 12.1%. However the eastern part of the neighborhood had a population of 12,308 and is still roughly 53% African-American.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bayview-Hunters Point, San Francisco

Today, African Americans still makes up the highest percentage of BVHP neighborhood residents, but not the majority of previous decades (i.e., not over 51%).

Historically the neighborhood has been a working class/ blue family with a high rate of homeownership with pockets of residents living in public housing. The community has long been the focus of "revitalization" efforts, both internally and externally led. In recent years, the decades of investment in the community have arguably paid off. New businesses are willing to open in long-vacant 3rd Street storefronts. Mid- to large-scale housing developments have been completed with more on the horizon. The massive Hunters Point Shipyard redevelopment and the rebuilding of decayed public housing units are underway. Amidst these changes, the majority of The Jazz Room customers are still the "regulars" – the African-Americans residents that have long connections to the neighborhood.

As the 3rd Street corridor changes, new businesses have opened and others have closed. So far, both have positively affect The Jazz Room's clientele base. Next door to The Jazz Room, local wine producer Gratta Wines opened a tasting room inside the Butchertown Gourmet Marketplace. Ms. Bernedette stated that Gratta Wine's customers sometimes drop in over the course of a night. The closure of the nearby Monte Carlo club/bar also resulted in a few new regulars for The Jazz Room.

g. Is the business associated with a culturally significant building/structure/site/object/interior?

The building that houses The Jazz Room was built in 1931 and is typical of the mixed-use buildings of that era. Although the façade is largely intact, it would not be considered architecturally unique. The interior of the establishment is a typical bar room layout.

h. How would the community be diminished if the business were to be sold, relocated, shut down, etc.?

The Jazz Room may have a small footprint, but it has an unmeasurable large impact in the lives of those that find themselves there on a regular basis. It's a place to socialize with "family." It's a place that's open every day of the year. Sometimes it's the only place some people have to go on the holidays. If The Jazz Room were to be relocated or shut down, the impact would be more than just the loss of another location to have a drink – a piece of Bayview-Hunters Point and an African-American contribution to the city would be gone.

If for some reason the business were to be sold, it must be sold with the understanding that the name is crucial to the legacy of its owners, the community and to Jazz music. For this reason, The Jazz Room located at 5267 3rd Street should be considered a San Francisco Legacy Business.

a. Describe the business and the essential features that define its character.

The Jazz Room is an entertainment venue. It provides a safe social gathering place for the immediate neighborhood. The original live performance elements are still occasionally scheduled thereby ensuring that music remains a part of The Jazz Room's defining character.

b. How does the business demonstrate a commitment to maintaining the historical traditions that define the business, and which of these traditions should not be changed in order to retain the businesses historical character? (e.g., business model, goods and services, craft, culinary, or art forms)

The Jazz Room began as a place in the neighborhood to gather, socialize and hear live music. The current owner maintains this traditional by opening her doors 365 days a year. Although

The Jazz Room could continue on without future live performances, this would not be in keeping with its tradition. Music is an important part of the venue's history and should be a continued element going forward.

c. How has the business demonstrated a commitment to maintaining the special physical features that define the business? Describe any special exterior and interior physical characteristics of the space occupied by the business (e.g. signage, murals, architectural details, neon signs, etc.).

The Jazz Room is best defined by the service it provides to the community. There are few physical features of the building that would be considered as defining characteristics. However, the owners have recently improved the facade with signage and an awning. The interior layout of the bar room allows for the continuation of live performances.

d. When the current ownership is not the original owner and has owned the business for less than 30years; the applicant will need to provide documentation that demonstrates the current owner has maintained the physical features or traditions that define the business, including craft, culinary, or art forms. Please use the list of supplemental documents and/or materials as a guide to help demonstrate the existence of the business prior to current ownership.

A Cultural Shift---Jazz Spreads to the Off-Broadway Clubs

By Ralph J. Gleason

IT MAY be too early to state it definitely, but there is every indication that the center of gravity in cultural circles is shifting to the West.

For some time now it has been obvious that trends and ideas can originate as easily, if not more easily, in San Francisco than in New York.

It may have something to do with the forest and the trees; it certainly has something to do with the fact that everything in San Francisco is a showcase for the citizens of the rest of the country.

A man with an idea in New York or Hollywood is just another guy waiting in the outer office. Here, he's on stage at the hungry i or the Purple Onion or the Blackhawk. People he couldn't get to see in New York are able to discover him on their own time. A much better way.

This has worked to the advantage of such performers as Mort Sahl, Lenny Bruce, Shelley Berman, the Kingston Trio, Johnny Mathis, Dave Brubeck and Cal Tjader.

It has also worked in other ways.

Not only was San Francisco the kick-off point for the revival of traditional jazz in the '40s, but it was the stage for the recent Beatnik movement, and the origination of the banjo night clubs. KPFA, whose non-commercial concept of FM radio has now spread to Los Angeles and New York (with other cities in sight), is a product of the cultural climate of the Bay Area. The success of the off-Broadway theater in San Francisco certainly rivals if not leads that of New York.

Thus it is that San Francisco has become the incubator of what is apparently an entirely new development in the audiences for jazz. Today, springing up in neighborhood bars and restaurants all around the Bay Area, there is a ring of off-Broadway jazz clubs offering live jazz two, three or four nights a week at low prices to neighborhood audiences.

And it is successful.

"We've had nothing but handshakes from the people who walk in since we started," said former drummer Chick Lang who with his partner, Charles Stavro, operates the 2C's at Mission and 29th. The 2C's has been featuring jazz on the week ends for some time now (their juke box even sports such items as Bunny Berigan's "I Can't Get Started").

"The talent in this town is fabulous," said Lang. "We've been successful from the first. People thought we were crazy to try to present jazz in the Mission, but it works. We've got Bob Ferrara's Quartet here now and we're working on Freddie Gambrell."

Success of the 2C's has sparked other Mission clubs into a jazz policy. The Jazz Playroom across the street from the 2C's has Monte Waters on the week ends; the HiFi Room at Army and Mission, the Players Club, and out on Third street, the Jazz Room, are now all in the jazz business.

Out at Geary and Arguello, The Tropics has been offering jazz for a long time.

Starting first as a Sunday afternoon session, the Tropics has gradually built its audience until now jazz is available there almost every night of the week with a group revolving around Brew Moore, Allen Smith, Harold Wiley, Cedric Heywood and Vince Guaraldi.

Down in North Beach, the Coffee Gallery has been successful with a non-high price jazz policy featuring Pony Poindexter and Beverly Kelly and both the Cellar and the Boule Noir, when they open shortly, will feature similar entertainment.

On the Marin shoreline, Zack's in Sausalito has been running with jazz for months with the Jim Purcell Trio relieved by Dick Oxtot's Dixie crew on Wednesdays. The Yacht Dock in Sausalito has bassist Vernon Alley and pianist Shelley Robbin.

In Berkeley, Nod's Taproom by the UC campus has been featuring Dixieland jazz on and off for months; the Monkey Inn, on the Oakland border, has had one night a week of Dixieland for years, and now there's a new spot, The Stew Den, right off Sather Gate.

The Stew Den is currently presenting Ron DiMasi's Quartet and singer Lynn Chapman on week ends. A non-alcoholic daytime cafeteria, the Stew Den is considering a 2 a. m. to 5 a. m. breakfast policy later this fall with jazz and food for Berkeley late night-wanderers.

Down in Palo Alto, Outside-at-the-Inside, one of the most beautiful nightclubs this reporter has ever been in, has been successful throughout this year with a jazz policy (it's also non-alcoholic) that has included local groups as well as some big names such as Jeri Southern, Red Norvo and Barney Kessel.

In Oakland, several smaller clubs such as the Blue Note and the Left Bank (with Ricardo Lewis' group) have recently begun live jazz on the week end.

And there are others. Within the past few weeks, indications of a similar spread of jazz to neighborhood spots in the Los Angeles area and in Chicago has been reported. Perhaps San Francisco has started another trend.

On and Off the Record

HERE'S the lineup for Neve, San Francisco (ex-Pack's II): Duke Ellington opens tomorrow night; Lambert Hendricks-Ross appear Oct. 11-16; Lionel Hampton, Oct. 18-23; Red Norvo, Oct. 25 to Nov. 6; Ray Anthony (Ray Anthony!) Nov. 8-20; Sarah Vaughan, Nov. 22 for an indefinite stay...

... Outside-at-the-Inside has Cal Tjader this week-end; Vince Guaraldi and the trio with Bobbie Norris and Freddy Paris Sept. 29-Oct. 2; and the Barney Kessel Quartet Oct. 6-9...

... Joe Darensbourg's Dixie Flyers will back Jimmy Rushing when the latter opens at the Hangover Oct. 7 for his first local appearance as a single...

... Slide Hampton opens at the Jazz Workshop Oct. 11 for two weeks...

... Helen Humes cut an LP for Contemporary with Marty is due out in two weeks. It's been delayed all summer...

... The first Australian Jazz Festival is set for Sydney next month with Dizzy Gillespie, Sarah Vaughan, Jonah Jones, Al Hibbler, Buddy Greco and others set for the four-day run...

The Jazz Room Review

Despite the non-chalant exterior, this wine bar in the reinvigorating Third Street corridor is much appreciated for its airy indoor space and service. Its a nice wine bar to meet afterwork for happy hour. So don't be surprised to find the groups of friends pouring champagne. It fills the hole left when Savannah Jazz left Mission District for San Mateo.
