Business Description

Val de Cole Wine and Spirits is a local alcoholic beverage retailer in the Cole Valley Neighborhood that has been in operation since the 1930s. Although the original owner and opening date are unknown, the business has been advertised in local newspapers since 1939. Extensive research is outside the scope of this review, but the business and its location appear to be one of the oldest – if not the oldest – extant wine and spirit stores in San Francisco. Previously named “Cole Street Liquor,” the business has continued to serve the community, with no apparent lapse in operation, throughout its long history, despite six ownership changes and a rebranding in 1975 to “Val de Cole.” When then-owner Jacob Malek-Zadeh bought Cole Street Liquor in 1975, he not only changed the name of the store, but is also cited as having helped create the name Cole Valley for the neighborhood (which at the time was referred to as Upper Haight).

The current owner, Behrooz Pejooohesh, moved to the Cole Valley neighborhood and began working at Val de Cole in 1979. In 1992, Behrooz bought the business with an investor and in 2005 was able to buy out his investor to be the sole proprietor. Behrooz continues to work at Val de Cole every day and ensures that the values, services, and quality that has defined Val de Cole for decades is preserved. Val de Cole's trademark is its dedication to curating a personalized experience for its local community, in an inclusive and welcoming environment, at all price points. Val de Cole has been a constant source of quality offerings across generations. Grandparents in the Cole Valley neighborhood can talk swinging by the store before Forty-Niners games at Kezar Stadium. Parents can talk about how Val de Cole is one of the few businesses left from their childhood. Young adults will talk about how Behrooz taught them about wine, and hand-selected products for them based on their conversations. Celebrities may also reminisce about visiting Val de Cole, since several famous comedians that use to perform at The Other Café (nonextant) often visited the store, including Steve Carrey, Danny Glover, and Robin Williams, among others. Val de Cole may be organized around selling wine and spirits, but the soul of the store is the community it has helped foster and maintain throughout all these 81+ years.

The business is located in a Category A (Historic Resource Present) structure on the north side of Divisadero Street between Carl Street and Parnassus Avenue in the Cole Valley neighborhood and is within the Cole Valley NCD (Neighborhood Commercial District) Zoning District and a 40-X Height and Bulk District.

Staff Analysis

REVIEW CRITERIA

1. When was business founded?

The business was founded in approx. 1930s (earliest recorded advertisement is 1939).

2. Does the business qualify for listing on the Legacy Business Registry? If so, how?

Yes. Val de Cole qualifies for listing on the Legacy Business Registry because it meets all of the eligibility Criteria:

- i. Val de Cole has operated continuously in San Francisco for at least 81 years.
- ii. Val de Cole has contributed to the history and identity of the Cole Valley neighborhood and San Francisco.
- iii. Val de Cole is committed to maintaining the physical features and traditions that define the organization.

3. Is the business associated with a culturally significant art/craft/cuisine/tradition?

Yes. The business is associated with curated fine wine, beer, spirits, and non-alcoholic beverages, at all price points.

4. Is the business or its building associated with significant events, persons, and/or architecture?

Yes. The property is located within the California Register-eligible Cole Valley Historic District, which was identified as a significant district under Criterion 1 (Events) and 3 (Architecture). The property is also within the boundaries of an ongoing Neighborhood Commercial Corridors Historic Resources Survey and is cited in the LGBTQ Historic Context Statement (pg. 167) for its association with a 1960s gay and lesbian bar, Bradley's Corner (present-day Kezar Bar), located adjacent to Val de Cole within the same structure.

5. Is the property associated with the business listed on a local, state, or federal historic resource registry?

Yes. The property has a Planning Department Historic Resource status code of "Category A" (Historic Resource Present) because of its locations within the eligible Cole Valley Historic District.

6. Is the business mentioned in a local historic context statement?

No. Val de Cole is not explicitly called out in any Historical Context Statements as of the date of this executive summary. However, the building which Val de Cole is located in has five (5) storefronts and the adjacent storefront (900 Cole Street) was cited in the LGBTQ Historic Context Statement (pg. 167) for its nonextant business, Bradley's Corner (present-day Kezar Bar), and association with 1960s gay and lesbian history in the Haight-Ashbury area.

7. Has the business been cited in published literature, newspapers, journals, etc.?

Yes. The business's earliest documentation was an advertisement in the Ashbury Heights Advance (1939). Val de Cole has also been featured on the Travel Channel. However, the majority of the business's success can be attributed to the dedicated customers who have helped sustain the business by word-of-mouth through the ups and downs of San Francisco's changing economic fortunes throughout the last eight decades.

City Hall, Room 140
San Francisco, 94102

Dear Colleagues,

I am pleased to nominate Val de Cole Wines and Spirits, located at 906 Cole Street for the Legacy Business Registry.

For over eight decades the business located at 906 Cole Street has served the Cole Valley neighborhood as a locally owned small business to purchase the essentials. Now in business as Val de Cole Wines and Spirits, the store has a reputation for providing a premium selection of wines and spirits at an affordable price.

Centrally located along the main merchant corridor in Cole Valley, the shop is highly visible and an integral part of the neighborhood's character. The shop has been serving the community since 1939, and in addition to the above, their consistent presence in the neighborhood merits their legacy status.

As Supervisor to District 5, I am pleased to nominate Val de Cole Wines and Spirits for Legacy Business Registry. Should you have any questions regarding this letter, please reach out to my office at: (415) 554-7630 or by email at: brownstaff@sfgov.org. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Vallie Brown

Val de Cole

Section 4: Written Historical Narrative

a. Provide a short history of the business from the date the business opened in San Francisco to the present day, including the ownership history. For businesses with multiple locations, include the history of the original location in San Francisco (including whether it was the business's founding and or headquartered location) and the opening dates and locations of all other locations.

Val de Cole Wines and Spirits (“Val de Cole”) is the oldest, continuously operating wine, beer, and spirits store in San Francisco. The store has always been located at 906 Cole Street in the heart of Cole Valley between Carl Street and Parnassus Avenue.

The store was opened as Cole Street Liquor in the 1930s and advertised in such local publications as the Ashbury Heights Advance as early as 1939. The starting year and original owner are unknown.

James McKeown purchased Cole Street Liquor sometime in the 1950s. In 1969, he sold the store to Martin Jacob, but bought it back from Martin two years later.

In 1975, Jacob Malek-Zadeh purchased Cole Street Liquor and renamed the shop Val de Cole, which means Cole Valley.

Behrooz Pejooresh, Val de Cole’s current owner, moved to Cole Valley in 1977. Like many denizens of the neighborhood, he quickly became friends with Jacob Malek-Zadeh. Two years later, Behrooz went to work for Val de Cole and, under the tutelage of Jacob, began to study wine, spirits, and beer. Jacob and Behrooz developed relationships with many winemakers in Napa and Sonoma, some of whom visited the store personally to hold tastings for their wines.

In 1992, Behrooz and an investor bought the store from Jacob. Behrooz was able to buy out his investor in 2005 and has been the sole owner of the store since that time.

b. Describe any circumstances that required the business to cease operations in San Francisco for more than six months?

The business has never ceased operations in San Francisco. Val de Cole is open every day of the year, and the owner still works in the store every day.

c. Is the business a family-owned business? If so, give the generational history of the business.

Val de Cole has been owned by a succession of individuals since its inception in the 1930s.

d. Describe the ownership history when the business ownership is not the original owner or a family-owned business.

The ownership history of Val de Cole is as follows:

1930s to 1950s	Unknown
1950s to 1969	James McKeown
1969 to 1971	Martin Jacob
1971 to 1975	James McKeown
1975 to 1992	Jacob Malek-Zadeh
1992 to 2005	Behrooz Pejooresh and Foad Laghaei
2005 to Present	Behrooz Pejooresh

e. When the current ownership is not the original owner and has owned the business for less than 30 years, the applicant will need to provide documentation of the existence of the business prior to current ownership to verify it has been in operation for 30+ years. Please use the list of supplemental documents and/or materials as a guide to help demonstrate the existence of the business prior to current ownership.

Documentation of the existence of the business prior to current ownership is included in this Legacy application.

f. Note any other special features of the business location, such as, if the property associated with the business is listed on a local, state, or federal historic resources registry.

The historic resource status of the building at 906 Cole Street is classified by the Planning Department as Category A, Historic Resource Present, with regard to the California Environmental Quality Act. The building is a contributor to the Eligible Cole Valley Historic District.

CRITERION 2

a. Describe the business's contribution to the history and/or identity of the neighborhood, community or San Francisco.

Val de Cole is not a liquor store, a corner store, or a convenience store. It is a well-curated wine, beer, and spirits shop that has also served as part of the social fabric of a secluded neighborhood for many decades.

As stated previously, Val de Cole is the oldest, continuously operating wine, beer, and spirits store in San Francisco. When Jacob Malek-Zadeh bought the store in 1975, he changed the name to reflect his appreciation of the neighborhood, as well as the broadened focus of the store. At that time, the neighborhood was still referred to as Upper Haight, and Jacob is credited by several authors with the creation of the name Cole Valley for San Francisco's smallest neighborhood. While earning a degree of philosophy in Italy, Jacob developed a passion for European wines, beers, and spirits. Cole Street Liquor already carried a selection of international products. When Jacob bought the store and renamed it, he greatly expanded the international selection of products using the knowledge and experience he gained abroad.

Behrooz Pejooresh, Val de Cole's current owner, moved to Cole Valley in 1977. Like many denizens of the neighborhood, he quickly became friends with Jacob Malek-Zadeh. Two years later, Behrooz went to work for Val de Cole and, under the tutelage of Jacob, began to study wine, spirits, and beer. Jacob and Behrooz developed relationships with many winemakers in Napa and Sonoma, some of whom visited the store personally to hold tastings for their wines. To this day there are winemakers who personally deliver their wines to Val de Cole.

More important than the relationships that Val de Cole has forged with Bay Area wine makers are the relationships that it has formed with its customers and neighbors. The store literally has hundreds of regular customers from Cole Valley and adjacent neighborhoods. The store has also serviced thousands of UCSF staff, students, and patients' families over the years.

Val de Cole has stuck to its roots and offers both world class, top shelf products as well as affordable, but still carefully curated, options for customers with modest budgets. Locals and longtime regulars appreciate that Val de Cole has not chased the latest boom cycle to the detriment of its longstanding customers. The lifeblood of the store are the thousands of dedicated customers who have stuck with the store during the ups and downs of San Francisco's changing economic fortunes.

b. Is the business (or has been) associated with significant events in the neighborhood, the city, or the business industry?

Grandparents in Cole Valley will talk about how they used to come to Cole St. Liquor before Forty-Niners games at Kezar Stadium. Parents will talk about how Val de Cole is one of the few businesses left in the neighborhood from their childhood. Parents and young adults alike will talk about how either Jacob or Behrooz taught them about wine, and showed them how to cultivate their palette. As residents return to Cole Valley every day after work, dozens of people stop by Val de Cole to make a small purchase, or to simply say hello to Behrooz and each other. The organizing principal of the store may be wine and spirits, but the soul of the store is the community it has helped foster and maintain.

In the immediate aftermath of the 1989 earthquake, when neighbors heard how much of Val de Cole's inventory had been destroyed, customers visited by the hundreds that week to buy what they could – or simply donate money – to help out the shop. This tremendous and heartfelt show of support is reciprocated by Val de Cole, which donates to local schools and teams and participates in the famous Belvedere Street Halloween celebration, the Cole Valley Fair, and other civic involvements.

Val de Cole holds wine tastings, especially in conjunction with winemaker visits, and participates in all neighborhood events, including local school auctions and sponsorship of local sports teams.

c. Has the business ever been referenced in an historical context? Such as in a business trade publication, media, or historical documents?

Cole Street Liquor advertised in Ashbury Heights Advance as early as 1939. The store has been featured on the Travel Channel and appears in countless photos and stories online posted both by residents and travelers.

d. Is the business associated with a significant or historical person?

Val de Cole has had many famous customers and regulars over the years. The store was frequented by Robin Williams, who performed regularly down the street at The Other Cafe. Other famous customers include Danny Glover, police chief Richard Hongisto, Laurence Fishburne, Terence Hallinan, and Gavin Newsom. Among the other numerous comedians who frequented Val de Cole before their performances on The Other Café, Evan Davis went on to place on Star Search with Ed McMahon, and local starving artist and comedian Steve Carrey won a $100,000 CA Lottery prize at Val de Cole, the first such payout in all of San Francisco.

e. How does the business demonstrate its commitment to the community?

Val de Cole is committed to its many customers in Cole Valley, Ashbury Heights, and Upper Haight. Val de Cole routinely donates bottles for neighborhood charity auctions and directly sponsors neighborhood sports teams. Val de Cole also routinely donates wine, beer, and spirits for the funerals and wakes of residents of the neighborhood who have passed away. The store also participates in the yearly, epic Halloween on Belvedere Street, passing out candy to thousands of children every year.

f. Provide a description of the community the business serves.

Val de Cole has a number of longstanding, dedicated customers. There are likely few locals left in the neighborhood who are old enough to remember Cole Street without Cole Street Liquor or Val de Cole. The store has customers in their 80s and even 90s who have been coming to the store for over 60 years. Val de Cole's loyal customer base are people who enjoy the Bay Area's food culture and appreciate being able to do so at any level of expenditure – large or small.

Despite ever rising prices of real estate in the city, Cole Valley has long been a diverse neighborhood that has attracted an eclectic mix of locals and transplants, including long-time denizens of the neighborhood and a steady stream of medical students and researchers from UCSF, some of whom themselves choose to stay at UCSF and in Cole Valley. Customers appreciate having a classy shop that does not just cater to wealthy customers. Val de Cole has always focused on having great wines at all price points. The owner and staff take the time to help people find the wine that is right for their palette and their pocketbook. There are literally thousands of Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram posts of regulars and visitors alike sharing the good time they have had at a Val de Cole tasting.

g. Is the business associated with a culturally significant building/structure/site/object/interior?

The current owner of Val de Cole has begun to expose more of the original interior of the shop, stripping away wallpaper and layered flooring to reveal some of the construction from the 1930s. The building has begun to have a life of its own online via the posts, pictures, and stories shared by so many of its patrons.

h. How would the community be diminished if the business were to be sold, relocated, shut down, etc.?

A closure of Val de Cole would create a giant gap in the neighborhood. The store is not only a place to buy a wide variety of wine, beer, and spirits, but is also a source of knowledgeable recommendations, ongoing learnings, and communal fun. The hundreds of people who stop by every night, starting with the return-from-work rush hour to post dinner time, would no longer have a friendly place to discover new products, make a planned or spontaneous purchase, or simply chat with their neighbors. The loss of another local business would send even more people to the internet to do their research – which does not work so well with something like wine and spirits – and across town chain stores for their purchases of wine, beer, and spirits.

CRITERION 3

a. Describe the business and the essential features that define its character.

Val de Cole has had an unwavering commitment to the neighborhood and its residents. The store is known above all else for its friendliness, patience with questions, willingness to share knowledge, and ability to help people learn and discover new things. The store is seen as a clean, well-lit place for wine that is not snobby, intimidating, or exclusive. The store is for everyone.

Val de Cole is also known for its selection. There are plenty of fancy wines, spirits, beers, and non-alcoholic beverages to suit even the most discriminating of connoisseurs. However, the shop also makes sure to have products it can recommend and stand behind at more modest price points. As the rest of the world knows, wine and spirits are not only for the rich. You should be able to enjoy a great wine, spirit, beer, or non-alcoholic beverage at just about any price.

b. How does the business demonstrate a commitment to maintaining the historical traditions that define the business, and which of these traditions should not be changed in order to retain the businesses historical character? (e.g., business model, goods and services, craft, culinary, or art forms)

Val de Cole must continue to offer the most personal service possible. Listening to customers is essential. Peoples' palettes evolve. Their personal and financial situations change. Culinary trends change, and the industry trends change. Through all of this, Val de Cole must continue to embrace its regulars, warmly welcome newcomers, and take everyone's trip to the store as an opportunity to give that person a special experience both in the store itself and at home, a party, a restaurant, or wherever they will enjoy what they have bought at the store. Taking the time to get to know the customer is extremely important. Getting to know the customer's palette is important as well.

c. How has the business demonstrated a commitment to maintaining the special physical features that define the business? Describe any special exterior and interior physical characteristics of the space occupied by the business (e.g. signage, murals, architectural details, neon signs, etc.).

As mentioned above, the current owner of Val de Cole has been exposing previous flooring, wall space, and ceiling space in order to show more of the original store's finish. Unfortunately, a robbery last year destroyed one of the decades-old painted windows. Val de Cole is currently exploring options to repaint the front windows in the same style and technique as the originals.

d. When the current ownership is not the original owner and has owned the business for less than 30years; the applicant will need to provide documentation that demonstrates the current owner has maintained the physical features or traditions that define the business, including craft, culinary, or art forms. Please use the list of supplemental documents and/or materials as a guide to help demonstrate the existence of the business prior to current ownership.

Val de Cole's current and previous owners are both available to substantiate ownership dating to 1975.

Fire Party Smokes Out Artists

Fire Party Smokes Out Artists as Well as Origin of "Cole Valley"

You may have seen the fliers posted on Cole Valley poles last November announcing a "fire relief" party at Cafe Reverie for Brandon Brown and his roommates who were burned out of 144-6 Belvedere. Reverie owners Ed Hobson and Joan Samson turned over the small cafe to a group of talented neighbors who passed the hat for resettlement expenses. The jazz combo "Project" played and widely acclaimed poet Thom Gunn and others read their work, some about Cole Valley's past. This prompted Loretta Chardin to say that she lived in Cole Valley before it was "Cole Valley," to which Gunn remarked, "Yeah, it was Jacob Malekzadeh who was trying to find a name for his liquor store and we suggested Val de Cole and the name was born."

Val De Cole Wines & Spirits

Val de Cole

There's a dinner party in 15 minutes and you forgot to bring anything. In fact, you have nothing — just $10 and the clothes on your back. Whatever will you do??

Never fear; Val De Cole is here. Grab a bottle of delicious wine for less than $10 each and every day, with the confidence that comes from a professionally-chosen selection of locals, imports, famous grapes and up-and-coming vineyards. That would be confidence.
