Business Description

Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. is a retail hardware store, opened originally by Heinz Solbach at 638 4th Street in September 1946. Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. has roots dating back to two hardware stores, P.A. Smith Hardware & Glass, and Ocean View Hardware, both founded in San Francisco in the late 1880s. The two stores eventually merged to become what is known today as Center Hardware. Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. is one of the largest independent hardware stores in San Francisco, boasting an inventory of 100,000 different items from a diverse array of hardware brands. It not only sells a vast inventory of hardware and industrial supplies for any type of project, but also offers numerous hardware-related services and programs to its customers. Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. has been continuously family-owned and operated by the Gentner Family since 1980.

Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. first opened in 1946 in the South of Market neighborhood at 638 4th Street, where it remained until 1988, moving to a much larger location at 999 Mariposa Street, to accommodate a rapidly growing hardware inventory. Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. remained in its second location until 1988, when it lost its lease. Rather than closing, Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. moved to its current location in Dogpatch at 3003 03rd Street in 2017, maintaining its distinctive red-brick-colored look, with cream and black lettering, and black circular logo. Located in a classic industrial warehouse building, its current location at 3003 03rd Street in Dogpatch allows Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. the space and ability to stock an expansive inventory, as well as ample room for store stocking and loading. Its Dogpatch location also accommodates customer parking, delivery, drop-off, and curbside hardware services. Further, honoring its long history as a hardware store, Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. also maintains a curated collection of antique tools and machines, which is displayed within the store.

Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc.'s customers vary from residents, artists, trade professionals, homeowners, businesses, contractors, building engineers, construction companies, property managers, and even City departments, carrying out projects that range from small home-repair projects to large scale infrastructure and high rises. Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc.'s welcoming and knowledgeable staff is ready to help any customer, regardless of technical knowledge and ability, find the hardware they need for their particular project.

Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. continues to give back to the community it serves, particularly the eastern neighborhoods of San Francisco. Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. has engaged local artists and tradespeople in commissioning a community mural, donates materials and tools to local high school students, including holding an annual fundraiser to support trades education at John O'Connell High School, donates space for local makers to sell their products, and has even hosted Toolapalooza, an event celebrating the trades. Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. also serves the larger community by selling Clipper Cards and SFMTA parking cards. For its lasting service and contribution to San Francisco, Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. was given a Certificate of Honor from the Board of Supervisors in 2017.

Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc, including its historic two predecessors, has also been an emergency hardware and industrial supplier through both the Great Earthquake and Fire of 1906 and Loma Preita Earthquake in 1989, and two pandemics. Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. was formally recognized in 2006 for its emergency efforts by the California State Assembly, City and County of San Francisco, Office of the Treasurer, and the Small Business Commission as part of San Francisco Rising, a citywide commemoration of the Great Earthquake and Fire of 1906.

The business's primary location at 3003 03rd Street is a Category B (Unknown / Age Eligible) structure on the east side of 03rd Street between Cesar Chavez and 25th Streets in the Dogpatch neighborhood. It is within a PDR-1-G (Production, Distribution & Repair - 1 – General) Zoning District and an 85-X Height and Bulk District. It is also located within the Central Waterfront Eastern Neighborhoods Planning Area and a Green Benefit District. 3003 03rd Street is also subject to the Dogpatch Public Realm Plan.

1 Dr. Carlton B. Goodlett Place
San Francisco, CA 94102

Dear Director Regina Dick-Endrizzi,

I am writing to nominate Center Hardware for inclusion on the Legacy Business Registry.

The purpose of the City's Legacy Business Registry is to recognize that longstanding, community-serving businesses can be valuable cultural assets of the City. Per ordinance, a business must be nominated by the Mayor or a member of the Board of Supervisors to be reviewed, processed and approved by the Small Business Commission as a Legacy Business at a public hearing if it meets the criteria set forth.

Since its grand opening in 1946, Center Hardware has provided high-quality tools, industrial supplies, and service to professionals, homeowners, and makers throughout the Bay Area. Though Center Hardware was officially established in 1946, its roots date back to the 1880s, through two major earthquakes and two global pandemics. Center Hardware and its predecessor businesses have provided the tools to help San Franciscans build and rebuild their neighborhoods for over a century.

Additionally, Center Hardware has an active presence in the community, and has supported local artists in establishing a community mural, donated materials for local high school students, hosted weekend open-air markets for local makers, hosted Toolapalooza – a one-of-a kind celebration of the trades annually – and hosted a yearly fundraiser that has raised thousands of dollars to support building and construction trades education in John O'Connell High School. Center Hardware has contributed to the history and identity of our City and fostered civic engagement and pride.

It is an honor to recognize the legacy and contributions of Center Hardware to our great City of San Francisco.

Sincerely,

London N. Breed
Mayor

CENTER HARDWARE

Section 4: Written Historical Narrative

CRITERION 1

a. Provide a short history of the business from the date the business opened in San Francisco to the present day, including the ownership history. For businesses with multiple locations, include the history of the original location in San Francisco (including whether it was the business's founding and or headquartered location) and the opening dates and locations of all other locations.

Center Hardware & Supply Co., Inc. ("Center Hardware"), located at 3003 3rd Street in the Dogpatch neighborhood, was established in 1946. Its roots, however, date back to the 1880s with origins stemming from two San Francisco hardware stores: P.A. Smith Hardware & Glass and Ocean View Hardware.

P.A. Smith Hardware & Glass was founded in the 1880s by Peter A. Smith who came to San Francisco in 1853 when he was just 20 years old. The store was located at 612 ½ Fourth Street at the corner of 4th and Brannan streets. At the time, the business primarily supplied products to the burgeoning ship repair business in San Francisco. When the 1906 earthquake and subsequent fire destroyed the store, Peter rebuilt the store at 638 4th Street. In 1946, Peter sold the store to Heinz Solbach, and he renamed it Center Hardware. In 1968, Center Hardware was purchased by Richard Blanz who eventually took in partners Irwin Blanz and David Newsom.

Ocean View Hardware was founded in the late 1890s by Ernest Leinhardt after he and his half-brother Ernest Gentner immigrated from Germany to San Francisco. The original store was on Market Street, the name lost in 1906 with the fire that burned down the original location. In 1907, using insurance money, the family was able to rebuild the store, opening Ocean View Hardware at 2 Sadowa Street at San Jose Avenue. Gentner's son, Ernest Frederick, came back to work with his uncle full time in 1947 after World War II. Eventually Ernest F. took over the store from his uncle. Ernest F.'s son Keith Gentner grew up working at his side and eventually took over Ocean View Hardware entirely.

In 1980, Richard Blanz sold his portion of Center Hardware to Keith Gentner. By this agreement, Gentner allowed Center Hardware to absorb and formally close Ocean View Hardware. In 1982, Keith bought out partners Irwin Blanz and David Newsom. Within a few years, business at Center Hardware was booming. Keith expanded business services and inventory to the point that the little store on 4th Street was bursting at the seams. In 1988, Center Hardware moved into a 20,000-square-foot building that had been previously used for steel manufacturing at 999 Mariposa Street in the Potrero Hill neighborhood. In 1995, Keith took on a new partner, Steve Leary and their partnership lasted until 2013 when Steve retired. In January 2017, after losing its lease on Mariposa Street, Center Hardware expanded and relocated again to 3003 3rd Street in the Dogpatch neighborhood, its current location, where they keep 100,000 items in stock every day.

Keith's daughter, Jamie, joined the business full-time in 1998. The father-daughter team is committed to continuing Center Hardware's long-standing mission to serve the Bay Area by providing both a tremendous on-site inventory and concierge-level customer service.

b. Describe any circumstances that required the business to cease operations in San Francisco for more than six months?

Center Hardware has not ceased operations in San Francisco since it was established in 1946.

c. Is the business a family-owned business? If so, give the generational history of the business.

Center Hardware is a family-owned business. Father-daughter team Keith Gentner and Jamie Gentner own and operate the business.

d. Describe the ownership history when the business ownership is not the original owner or a family-owned business.

The ownership history of Center Hardware is as follows:

1946 to 1968:	Heinz Solbach
1968 to Unknown:	Richard Blanz
Unknown to 1980:	Richard Blanz, Irwin Blanz, and David Newsom
1980 to 1982:	Keith Gentner, Irwin Blanz, and David Newsom
1982 to 1995:	Keith Gentner
1995 to 2013:	Keith Gentner, Steve Leary
2013 to Present:	Keith Gentner

e. When the current ownership is not the original owner and has owned the business for less than 30 years, the applicant will need to provide documentation of the existence of the business prior to current ownership to verify it has been in operation for 30+ years. Please use the list of supplemental documents and/or materials as a guide to help demonstrate the existence of the business prior to current ownership.

Keith Gentner has owned Center Hardware since 1980. Documentation of the existence of the business verifying it has been in operation for 30+ years is provided in this Legacy Business Registry application.

f. Note any other special features of the business location, such as, if the property associated with the business is listed on a local, state, or federal historic resources registry.

The historic resource status of the building that houses Center Hardware is classified by the Planning Department as Category B, Unknown / Age Eligible, with regard to the California Environmental Quality Act.

CRITERION 2

a. Describe the business's contribution to the history and/or identity of the neighborhood, community or San Francisco.

Center Hardware has built itself behind the scenes of San Francisco. The store has supplied the city, its businesses, events, residents, artists, and jobsites with the necessary materials to keep things running. They have established relationships with building engineers, construction companies, property managers, and City departments who rely on Center Hardware to maintain the inventory materials they need to keep San Francisco running. Building engineers have Center Hardware's cell phone numbers for emergencies and 24-hour response time for catastrophic events.

Center Hardware relocated to Dogpatch in January 2017. Its history is rooted along the neighborhood's three miles of industrial eastern San Francisco. Dogpatch is one of the city's original mixed-use neighborhoods, and it perfectly reflects Center Hardware's customer base.

b. Is the business (or has been) associated with significant events in the neighborhood, the city, or the business industry?

For more than a century, Center Hardware and its two preceding companies have been an emergency supplier through two major earthquakes (1906 and 1989) and two pandemics (1918-1920 and 2020-2021). During the Loma Prieta Earthquake in 1989, Center Hardware ran a 24-hour schedule for more than a week. During the coronavirus pandemic in 2020, hardware stores were categorized as an "essential businesses." Center Hardware allowed their team members to walk away from their positions if they felt it was necessary to prioritize their personal needs and their families. All the employees chose to continue working at Center Hardware because they believe in what the business does and how they do it together.

c. Has the business ever been referenced in an historical context? Such as in a business trade publication, media, or historical documents?

Center Hardware has been referenced in numerous publications, including 7x7, Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA) of San Francisco, California Retail Hardware Association, KTVU FOX 2, HBS (Hardware + Building Supply) Dealer, Hardware Retailing, Hoodline, San Francisco Business Times, and SFMade Blog.

d. Is the business associated with a significant or historical person?

At Center Hardware, every customer is a significant person. For more than 100 years, Center Hardware and its two preceding companies have been providing high-quality tools, industrial supplies, and products to trade professionals, contractors, homeowners, and Do-It-Yourselfers throughout the Bay Area. The store provides all customers with great products and exceptional service. Whether you need a single lightbulb in your home or enough to light up the entire Bay Bridge, you'll find what you're looking for at Center Hardware.

In addition to contractors and tradespeople, notable customers include: film and television productions like the Streets of San Francisco and Mythbusters and the current Martix / Marvel productions; specialty chefs such as Michael Recchiuti, Chris Cosentino, and Betty Zlatchin; state and local governments; award winning artists; world famous hotels and facilities including the Fairmont San Francisco and the Chase Arena; and internationally recognized local companies such as Heath Ceramics and Galanter & Jones.

e. How does the business demonstrate its commitment to the community?

Center Hardware strives to not only help build and maintain the community's physical structures, but contributes to its identity and spirit whenever possible. The business has supported local artists in establishing a community mural, donated materials for local high school students endeavoring to build a self-driven solar boat, opened their parking lot to host a weekend open-air market for local makers, hosted Toolapalooza – a one-of-a kind celebration of the trades annually – and hosted a yearly fundraiser that has raised thousands of dollars to support the trades in John O'Connell High School.

f. Provide a description of the community the business serves.

Although Center Hardware is located in the Dogpatch, one of San Francisco's last true mixed-use neighborhoods, the business serves the entire community of San Francisco. Center Hardware has helped the city grow from dirt streets and horse-drawn carriages to the thriving metropolis it is today. Center Hardware's community is the wonderfully diverse population of San Francisco and its equally diverse building and maintenance needs, from high rises and high tech to historic Victorian renovations.

g. Is the business associated with a culturally significant building/structure/site/object/interior?

Center Hardware has a highly curated collection of antique tools and machines relating to the industry over the last century. These objects are on display in the conference room.

h. How would the community be diminished if the business were to be sold, relocated, shut down, etc.?

Center Hardware has come to be known not only as the place to go for hard to find parts specific to older San Francisco buildings, but also for its knowledgeable and helpful staff. Center Hardware provides full time employment and benefits for more than 30 people and has helped San Francisco through earthquakes, pandemics, economic downturns, a depression, and recessions all without laying off a single staff member. If Center Hardware were to close, San Francisco would lose a hardware store with exceptional service and hundreds of years of knowledge and resourcefulness.

CRITERION 3

a. Describe the business and the essential features that define its character.

Center Hardware stocks over 100,000 products from hundreds of vendors across all key departments including hand and power tools and accessories, hardware and fasteners, plumbing, electrical, personal protection equipment (PPE) and safety, lawn and garden, paint and sundries, heating and cooling, automotive, farm and agriculture and more. Center Hardware has access to the entire lines of tools for all tool suppliers including Milwaukee Tool, STIHL, Stabila, Kreg, BOSCH, Freud / Diablo, Makita and Kelly-Moore Paints.

Center Hardware is an official authorized dealer of Kelly-Moore Paints. Center Hardware offers professional mixing and color matching services for painting contractors, builders, property managers, designers, galleries, and individuals. Commercial contractor and volume discounts available. The store is also an authorized distributor for painters' tools, equipment, and parts from Graco, Wagner, and Titan. In-stock products Kelly-Moore's Color Studio Collection, featuring more than 1,700 colors in addition to the ready-mix collection. Kelly-Moore Paints was chosen by Center Hardware because they are a local California paint company and an ESOP (employee stock ownership plan) company.

To give their customers a better idea of the breadth of product, Center Hardware has an uploaded virtual tour online, a shoppable catalog, and a robust brand listing available on their website. Customers may use these tools to request quotes and estimates before committing to a purchase in store. Many Center customers still prefer paper catalogs for portability and research, so those are available at no cost in five categories: Commercial / Industrial, Tools & Equipment, MRO (maintenance, repair, and operations), Building Materials, and Farm & Agriculture.

Center Hardware created the world's first Tool Replacement Program. As jobsite theft and truck break-ins reached all-time highs in the Bay Area, Center wanted to find a way to help the professionals get back to work quickly. Center recruited industry-leading Milwaukee Tool to partner with them on this program. Now, with only a police report as proof, tradespeople can replace what was taken at a discount.

Center Hardware is the only location south of Folsom Street in SOMA and east of Sanchez Street in Noe Valley where you can buy SFMTA parking cards. They are one of only two locations in San Francisco where you may purchase valid California hunting and fishing licenses. The other location is Big 5 Sporting Goods on Sloat Blvd. by Lake Merced, so Center Hardware services the entire eastern side of San Francisco. Clipper Cards are also available at Center, servicing the surrounding area.

Center Hardware uses decades of experience to source hard to find items and special orders for customers daily. Additional services Center Hardware provides are:

- Only full-line dealer for STIHL in San Francisco and authorized repair center.
- Residential recycling drop-off location for latex paint, batteries, and fluorescent bulbs.
- Bin maintenance.
- Delivery.
- Curbside pickup.
- Customer messaging across platforms including telephone, social media, texting, and email.

Center Hardware is a certified small business with the State of California, and a certified Local Business Enterprise (LBE) with the City and County of San Francisco.

b. How does the business demonstrate a commitment to maintaining the historical traditions that define the business, and which of these traditions should not be changed in order to retain the businesses historical character? (e.g., business model, goods and services, craft, culinary, or art forms)

Center Hardware is committed to maintaining its historical tradition as a hardware store.

c. How has the business demonstrated a commitment to maintaining the special physical features that define the business? Describe any special exterior and interior physical characteristics of the space occupied by the business (e.g. signage, murals, architectural details, neon signs, etc.).

When Center Hardware moved from Mariposa Street to 3rd Street, the building was painted nearly the same way for customer recognition, with a brick-red-colored body, cream background with black logo and lettering.

Center Hardware has a highly curated collection of antique tools and machines relating to the industry over the last century. These objects are on display in the conference room.

d. When the current ownership is not the original owner and has owned the business for less than 30 years; the applicant will need to provide documentation that demonstrates the current owner has maintained the physical features or traditions that define the business, including craft, culinary, or art forms. Please use the list of supplemental documents and/or materials as a guide to help demonstrate the existence of the business prior to current ownership.

Documentation that demonstrates the business has been a hardware store for 30+ years is included in this Legacy Business Registry application.

137-Year-Old Center Hardware Puts Down New Roots In The Dogpatch

By Jack Morse - Published on January 12, 2017.

The doors of Mariposa Street's Center Hardware & Supply Co. closed on December 23rd, and to the casual passerby it may have appeared yet another case of an independently owned business forced to shutter by its big-box competitors.

Happily, that couldn't be further from the truth. Instead, the 137-year-old hardware store is expanding—moving its operations from the edge of Potrero Hill to a 20,000-square-foot retail location in the Dogpatch.

The new Center Hardware opened on January 3rd at 3003 Third St. To celebrate, the business is hosting a grand opening party on January 27th. Beginning at 10:30am and lasting all day, the event will include food trucks, discounts, and product giveaways.

Co-owned by father-daughter team Keith and Jamie Gentner, Center Hardware has been in business in various incarnations since 1880. Originally opened as PA Smith Hardware & Glass, the company has undergone several moves over the years—including a relocation after the 1906 quake—before landing on Mariposa Street in 1987. After nearly 30 years in Potrero Hill, the Gentners, who have run Center Hardware since 1980, are excited about the business's next step.

"Our new location will make it even easier to shop with us and we have expanded our inventory to offer our wide-range of customers even more products that are available immediately," explained Jamie Gentner in a press release.

Indeed, the configuration of the new Dogpatch store allows the Gentners to stock 30 percent more products than they could at the Mariposa Street location. And those products will serve a wide array of customers, as Jaime Gentner counts everyone from local handymen to the city of San Francisco as clients—proudly noting on her website that she provides officials with bulbs to light the Bay Bridge.

“We like to say we are woven into the fabric of this city,” she further explained. “Whether you are a home owner who needs a single light bulb or a city contractor who needs bulbs for the entire Bay Bridge, we can supply what you need and our sales staff will treat you like a king.”

All has not been easy in their new home, as the recent storms forced the Gentners to get creative to address a leaky ceiling. Thankfully, as a hardware store, they have plenty of tools at their disposal, and were able to use a funnel and plastic tubing to direct the rain to buckets. Just the kind of solution you'd expect from a father-daughter team with hardware stores in their blood.

SF's Oldest Hardware Store Opens 20,000 Square-Foot Makers Paradise in Dogpatch

By Cheryl Locke

Feb 17, 2017

A treasure trove for the city's builders and DIYers, Center Hardware is one of the few remaining independent hardware stores left in the age of Amazon—and now it has a new HQ, packed with all the trappings a maker (or burner) could want.

There are literally thousands of reasons to shop Center Hardware's new 20,000 square-foot retail space on Third Street in Dogpatch: The 65,000-item inventory includes 500 different cans of spray paint, a head-turning assortment of obsession-worthy Yeti coolers, and a shop-in-shop devoted to the legacy power tool brand Milwaukee. Whether you're looking for discontinued Victorian hinges or toilet flappers, the long-time staff (one employee has worked there for 39 years!) has seen and knows it all. And, a friendly concierge desk is there to problem-solve, not to judge.

"The burners all show up right before Burning Man—we love hearing about their camps and art installations," says proprietor Jamie Gentner. "They come here for metal, lighting ideas, batteries, headlamps, tools, and Yeti. It's an incredibly creative community."

Some may be surprised to learn that the iconic hardware haven is helmed by a woman: Jamie Gentner is Center's fourth-generation owner; she's minded the store (formerly located on Mariposa Street in Potrero Hill) with her father, Keith Gentner, since 1980. If you count Keith's previous store, Ocean View Hardware, Center Hardware and the family's predecessor stores have served San Francisco since the late 1800s.

Here, Jamie Gentner talks to 7x7 about Center's grand re-opening and the city, then and now.

7x7: When you closed the Mariposa Street location last December, some people thought you had permanently closed. Do you want to set the record straight?

Jamie Gentner: It was very hard to combat that message—many of our customers aren't on social media [all day], they are working with tools on job sites. Our new location has plenty of parking, wider aisles, and isn't as cold. We are one of the few people in San Francisco with a good landlord story — [our landlord] happily offered us this new location after he decided to develop [the old location on] Mariposa Street.

7x7: How are you different from your big box counterparts?

JG: We are a heaven for fixers and makers. The thing that sets us apart from places like Lowe's is our customer service and depth of inventory. Since we don't belong to a chain, that gives us a tremendous amount of flexibility. We are a resourceful group of people who have been here for a long time. When the city ran out of sandbags during last year's storm, Chris [Wallace, Center Hardware's long-time buyer] got in a truck and drove down to Santa Cruz to get more. We have the independence to dispatch people to do that. During the Loma Prieta earthquake in 1989, my dad slept on the front counter so we could stay open 24 hours a day for four days straight while the city tried to sort out and contain the damage. Everyone needed everything, from padlocks, chain, gas cans, wood, batteries, and Shop-Vacs. It was intense.

7x7: You've said Center Hardware wouldn't be the way it is today without your dad. Tell us how you work together.

JG: My dad just turned 70. He has skills and qualities that are irreplaceable. He used to read parts catalogs for fun, and he just absorbed it all. He's amazing with that type of stuff. He leaves the daily operations and logistics with me; sometimes that includes mountains of paperwork. It leaves him time to do what he's best at, which is sourcing stuff. He's so jazzed when he sees this broken thing from 30 years ago that isn't made anymore, and he finds the work-around. It's a gift he has and our customers benefit.

7x7: How has the business evolved?

JG: My dad came from the neighborhood store. At the time, [Ocean View Hardware] was primarily a shipyard business, and we now have very little shipyard business. Now we work with the city, facility engineers, hotels, contractors, schools, and SFO. We have a big, robust customer base. And that's what makes us a great equalizer. We have the homeowner, the art student, the burner, the facility engineer, Anchor Brewing, Recchiuti Confections, and The Fairmont. And everybody is treated the same. They all have a problem, and they come here to solve it.

7x7: Has it been a challenge for you to navigate such a male-dominated industry?

JG: It's hard for me to answer that. I grew up in this industry. I started when I was 11, and I've been here full-time since '98. It can be hard to navigate at times...it comes down to people and to respect. Are you going to treat someone credibly as a person? It shouldn't have anything to do with my gender. The customer who growls at me should also be growling at him. But, you can't change everybody. There's definitely sexism that exists, but I also get that at the mall. I don't isolate it to a work thing.

A nod to Center Hardware's history in San Francisco.

7x7: What would you say to customers who aren't very handy?

JG: Be confident! Holding a drill is intimidating. And you don't know anyone who has a drill anymore, so you can't ask someone to show you how. The thing is, you can.

7x7: Does your team ever get stumped by customer questions?

JG: When we're not quite sure how to answer a question, we totally admit that and kick into research mode. Sometimes, we'll even call our customer who's over there (Jamie points into the store) and get them to answer the question, and now two people have learned. We try to facilitate that kind of thing all day long because that empowers everyone. The customer is happy because he got the information he needed. And my staff learned something. It's a win-win for our store to be this resource.

7x7: Any recommendations for DIY beginners?

JG: We're lucky in San Francisco. There are places like Workshop SF, Wood Thumb, San Francisco Community Wood Shop, Noisebridge, and TechShop that do DIY classes all the time. City College has courses in furniture making, construction, upholstery, among other things. [There's] Revere Academy for jewelry making. The Crucible and NIMBY are in Oakland. SF Etsy is a great group. I want people to know that they can learn hands on. There is also a goldmine of credible information online from tool companies and how-to places like Instructables and Ana White. We wouldn't be Center Hardware if we didn't encourage people to want to learn trades again. Our plumbers, electricians, carpenters, engineers, and mechanics are all in short number in San Francisco. There are amazing apprenticeship programs through our local unions.
